Mr Stack,

I am writing you regarding your defamation of me on your CryingWolfe blog.

Specifically:

- I have no involvement in PornWikileaks and in fact had no connection to pornography at all until I began receiving information on your history of cyberstalking from several women who have left the industry.
- The Chicago phone number you insinuate is mine, 773-449-5041, is a cruise promotion telemarketer, which you could have determined with a simple Google search.
- I am not the owner of the @AnonyOps Twitter account, I do not employ the person behind it, nor do I know their name.

Mentioning my name alongside a Congressman's name will indeed generate a Google Alerts for their staff, but your involvement in what happened to Congressman Weiner is already widely known. All this accomplishes is positioning me to further school you in minding your own business.

Your statements about me rise to the level of defamation and could well result in legal action if they continue.
